

Mountain Ash 'Loving Literacy'

Our Vision @ MACS

We feel as a school that good literacy skills are a vital component in our students' achievement both inside the classroom and in their future world of work. We are working hard to ensure key skills are not only taught to our students but revised in a practical manner throughout their time with us.

Why do we need Literacy skills?

Having good literacy skills allows us to communicate effectively as human beings, enabling us to perform the simplest activities such as creating shopping lists or speaking fluently to writing a letter or essay! One way of enhancing our students' literacy skills is through the love of reading.

What can YOU do to help?

Parents have an important role to play in developing the language and literacy skills of children and by encouraging them to read for pleasure at home, our students will reap the benefits! They will more readily see connections between words and revisit key spellings. They will be able to vary their vocabulary, witness first hand good examples of sentence constructions and much more.

Creating OUR Learnatics who LOVE literacy!

We are committed to developing our students' basic skills and have launched an extra literacy session during Friday form time to promote the love of language. Our students are continually visiting key skills vital in all subject areas studied. Furthermore, Year 7 are also using a Tuesday form session to strengthen their reading skills fostering a positive love of texts!
